Contributors to This Issue

Brian Craig is an attorney with Thomson-West in Eagan, Minnesota. He is also an adjunct instructor of law with the Minnesota School of Business/Globe College where he has taught a variety of courses including constitutional issues, administrative law, legal research, legal writing, cyber law, and criminal law. Brian first gained his interest in flags as a youth with the Boy Scouts of America. He now serves as an adult volunteer with the Boy Scouts of America as a counselor for the Citizenship in the Community, Nation, and World merit badges. He has a particular interest in the legal issues associated with flags and other symbols.

Laura K. Kidd is an associate professor at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Illinois, specializing in historic costume and fashion design. A member of NAVA since 2004, she is interested in flag conservation and the flag as material culture. A past contributor to Raven (‘A splendid and beautiful Silk Flag’) she is currently working on a memoir of a Hungarian Holocaust survivor.

Ken Reynolds, PhD, is the Assistant Heritage Officer for the Canadian Forces at the Directorate of History and Heritage, Department of National Defence, in Ottawa, Ontario. In addition to providing advice and answering inquiries concerning Canadian military heritage, his primary duty is the research and writing of the six-volume The Traditions and Customs of the Canadian Forces. Out of the vast array of subject matter contained in these volumes, his greatest personal interest lies in military forms of identity, especially flags and colors, and he hopes to ultimately produce a history of the use of unit and royal colors by the Canadian military.

Gustavo Tracchia, a travel agent in New York, has been a NAVA member since 1979, serving as treasurer and vice-president. He has published extensively in the area of Latin American vexillology. In 1995, at 16 ICV in Warsaw, the Centro Interdisciplinario de Estudios Culturales presented him the Ottfried Neubecker Award for his contribution to the advancement of vexillology in his native Argentina. He won NAVA's Driver award

Edward B. (Ted) Kaye, editor, is advisory editor of The Flag Bulletin. A member of NAVA since 1985 and an organizer of the 12th International Congress of Vexillology in 1987, he serves as the chief financial officer of a small technology company and as NAVA’s treasurer. His articles have appeared in Raven, The Flag Bulletin, NAVA News, the Vexilloid Tabloid, and Flagmaster. He compiled and published NAVA’s guide to flag design “Good Flag, Bad Flag”, and has led NAVA’s Internet surveys of public perceptions of US and Canadian state/provincial flags and of US city flags.

Colophon

This issue of the Raven: A Journal of Vexillology was typeset in Adobe Gar- amond using Aldus PageMaker. Typesetting and image processing was performed by Jeanne E. Galick, Graphic Design, Portland, Oregon.

This journal is printed on 55-pound Natural Shade paper. All printing and binding was done by Whitehall Printing Company, Naples, Florida.