The Flag on Prospect Hill: A Response to Byron DeLear

Kanye West, Brad Paisley, and Contemporary Confederate-Flag Discourse in Popular Music Iconography

Exploring the Genealogy of the President’s Flag of the United States of America, 1915–1959
The Flag on Prospect Hill: A Response to Byron DeLear

Kanye West, Brad Paisley, and Contemporary Confederate-Flag Discourse in Popular Music Iconography

Exploring the Genealogy of the President’s Flag of the United States of America, 1915–1959

Figure 1. The “Continental Colors.” Source: Yaddah Hoshie, commons.wikimedia.org.

Figure 1. Kanye West wearing his Confederate Flag jacket in 2013. Source: X17online.com (reproduced with permission).

Figure 2. Confederate flag emblazoned “I ain’t coming down.” Source: fashionbombdaily.com (accessed 23 January 2016).

Figure 3. Byron McCandless’s first proposal: light blue, May 1945. Source: author’s photograph, Truman Presidential Library and Museum (TPLM).

Figure 7. Byron McCandless’s fifth proposal: perched eagle encircled by 48 stars, July 1945. Source: author’s photograph, TPLM.

NAVA
North American Vexillological Association
Association nord-américaine de vexillologie

Volume 22 — 2015